Irish Nativities Recorded in London St. Patrick Parish and Cemetery

London St. Patrick Cemetery lies on the London-Circleville Road, a short way outside the limits of the city. The original four-acre tract was purchased by Archbishop Purcell on April 17, 1865. At that time, the Catholics of London were worshipping at St. John's church, located on the north corner of Oak and Center streets, not far from the railroad station.

The first known Catholics of London were Irish construction laborers on the Columbus and Xenia Railroad, which was built east from Xenia through London in 1848 and 1849. The first passenger train ran over this new road on February 20, 1850. This project completed, some thirty-five of the laborers noted the goodness of the land and "took to the furrow" in the London area. The 1966 centennial booklet of the parish notes, "They sent word of their new life to relatives abroad, and to friends in other parts of the country. The result was a migration of Catholic settlers to Madison county." The nativities detailed below indicate that the immigrant chain certainly was the vehicle by which the parish grew, with most of the immigrants coming from counties Tipperary, Limerick, Waterford, and Cork.

Mass first was offered in London in 1849 in McGuire's boardinghouse at Second and Walnut streets (later the site of the First Presbyterian Church). The identity of the celebrant on this occasion is uncertain, but Father Clark, who wrote the parish's 1937 history, thought that it was Father Joseph O'Mealy. (Father O'Mealy and his brother Father Patrick O'Mealy labored throughout that section of Ohio; his work in Lawrence County will be noted in this May's Bulletin.) Father James Kearney of Springfield attended London in 1849 and 1850, followed by Fathers Maurice Howard and Thomas Blake. The Catholic houses of that time, where Mass was offered, were those of John Dwyer, Philip Lackey, Daniel Graham, Michael McCarty, Edward Donahue, John Fogarty, Thomas Kennally, Patrick Masterson, Frank Masterson, Michael Callahan, James McCarthy, and Thomas Singleton. Later, until 1856, Mass was offered in the Phifer House in London.

In October of 1855 the lot on the north corner of Oak and Center streets was purchased by John Dwyer, James Keating, and Martin Pendergast as trustees and a frame church was constructed under the direction of Father Howard. It was blessed in the fall of 1856 under the name of St. John the Evangelist. This little church served the community for ten years, until the present St. Patrick Church was completed in 1866.

The old church lot was deeded to Archbishop Purcell in 1864 by James and Johanna Keating, John and Bridget Dwyer, and Martin and Kate Pendergast (the latter couple by then had moved to Portage County, Wisconsin). Purcell sold the old church in 1867. It later was moved to the rear of the lot, where it stood until it was blown down. The brick St. Paul A.M.E. Church now stands on its original site.

The four-acre St. Patrick Cemetery was sufficient for nearly a century. Nine acres lying northwest of the original tract were added to the cemetery in 1960.

The priests' circle contains the following monuments and tombstones:

Rev. John M. Conway, Born 1842, Died August 1st, 1896, Aged 54 years. "Let the priests who rule well be esteemed worthy of double honor." - 1 Tim. v. 17. Erected by his grateful parishioners.

Cornelius Conway, Died August 18, 1874, aged 39 years.

Johanna Conway, Died Feb. 10, 1872, aged 70 years.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor George A. Gorry, S.T.D., born 1888, ordained 1914, died 1939

Rev. Wm. P. Clark, 1877-1942

Rev. Abraham McNamara, Born in Ballynahinch, Ireland, March 3, 1849, Ordained June 8, 1874, Died March 27, 1926

St. Patrick Cemetery seems to be unique in the Diocese of Columbus for the relatively high proportion of tombstones which name a place of birth, at least a county, for the Irish immigrants. A total of 292 nativities are presented below. All of the counties of Ireland are represented except Antrim, Donegal, Londonderry, and Tyrone in Ulster, Kildare in the midlands, and Wicklow in the southeast. By far the largest number (89) were born in Tipperary, which also was the birthplace of the first resident pastor. Next were Limerick (36), Waterford (27), and Cork (24), all having port cities, indicating the heavy migration from the south during and after the famine.

The following is a summary of such data in the older portion of the cemetery and from the parish burial register through the year 1910. The source of the data is indicated by 'ts' for tombstone or 'pr' for parish burial register. Some of the priests, such as Rev. Patrick H. Cusack in the 1890s, made a careful practice of noting the counties of nativity, while others entered simply, "Ireland", so that the number of entries culled from the register varies greatly from year to year.

Rev. Louis de Goesbriand, of Louisville, Stark
Co., reports at St. Genevieve in Holmes Co., which he visits every five or six weeks, 34
families, 156 souls, but only 30 Easter Communions.

The new and beautiful church lately erected by Rev. Mr. Lamy at Mt. Vernon, was destroyed by fire on the evening of the 2d of March. All the woodwork was consumed. There is nothing left standing but the walls, which are partially damaged. The cause of the fire is not yet ascertained.

[Statistics from Rev. James Conlan: 35 families, about 200 souls in Steubenville; total of 250 families and 1,478 persons including St.
Paul's in Columbiana County and East Liverpool.] "During the last two years we have endeavored to liquidate a debt contracted for the erection of the church of St. Pius, Steubenville."

EPISCOPAL VISITATION. -- There were sixty-seven persons confirmed in St. Mary's church, Chillicothe, on Thursday, 23d May. The youth of the congregation, the girls dressed in white, with a handsome banner representing the Saviour blessing little children, marched in procession through the town, accompanied by a band of music, and were kindly entertained at Glen-Mary, by Mrs. William Marshall Anderson. Mr.
Anderson addressed the happy group from the summit of a beautiful mound overshadowed by oaks and elms, edifying by reminding them that the day of his First Communion, and not those of Lodi, or Austerlitz, or Wagram, was that which a Bonaparte remembered with the greatest pleasure. Human glory was infinitely inferior to the dignity to which they had been that day elevated, "BEING MADE PARTAKERS OF THE DIVINE NATURE." He exhorted his innocent hearers to persevere faithfully until death, and that God would give them brighter crowns than emperors, or kings ever wore. Mary the Mother of Jesus would pray for them to her divine Son, and protect them from the dangers to which their virtue was sure to be exposed in the world. They should catch the spirit of Catholic piety which consecrated to Heaven's Queen the sweet month of flowers, and present to her the Bouquet she loved best -- the Lily of purity, the Rose of love, the Violet of modesty, and the Forget-me-not of an everlasting remembrance." After the address, the Bishop solemnly blessed the young audience, and it was carried by acclamation that the Mound should thenceforward bear the name of "Mary."

On Friday evening, the bishop preached in the Lutheran church at Circleville. It was crowded with persons anxious to hear for the first time the doctrines of our church fairly stated by one of her own accredited ministers. Next morning Mass was celebrated at the house of a zealous German Catholic, Mr. Mayer, and the Holy sacraments administered to those prepared to receive them.

In Lancaster, three were seventy-six persons confirmed, many of whom made their First Communion the same day (Pentecost), there were some converts, and the congregation increases steadily. We were much edified by the piety of St. Mary's. The young Ladies of the congregation have had a convenient presbytery built for their zealous pastor, and they evince much of the virtue of Religion in the making of Vestments, the care of the sanctuary and the decoration of the Altar. Rev. Messrs. Juncker, Machebeuf and Thienpont accompany the Bishop through this part of the diocese.

CATHOLIC SETTLEMENT

The heirs of the late P. Quin offer great inducements to Catholics desirous of purchasing farms. They have a large tract of land on the Big Racoon, in Gallia County, where a handsome Church has been lately erected, and which, until the arrangements shall be completed for a resident Pastor, will be visited once a month, or oftener by a Clergyman from Portsmouth. It is one of the best wheat regions in the West, with salt, and coal in abundance. These together with the great water power and other natural advantages make it a most desirable Settlement. to those who will apply soon they will sell very low for Cash. For further particulars enquire (if by letter POST PAID, or if not attended to) of Rev.

Joseph O'Mealy, Portsmouth, Scioto County, Daniel Quin or Simon Doran, Wilksville, Gallia County, Ohio.

COLUMBUS, 6th June, 1844.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION. -- There were fifty-three persons confirmed at St. Joseph's [near Somerset], on the 30th May. The church is a beautiful building, in the Gothic style, 122 feet long by 60 wide. It is not yet plastered, nor is the tower completed. When finished it will certainly be one of the finest churches, not only of this diocese, but of the U. States. The number of novices, destined for the Holy Ministry is nine, and Rev. messrs. Grace and Young, who have been for several years pursuing their theological studies in Italy are expected here this summer.

At St. Patrick's, 7 miles from Somerset, attended twice a month by Rev. Mr. O'Brien, from St. Joseph's, there were seventy-six confirmed, among whom eight, or nine, were converts. This Congregation has much increased in numbers. They need a much larger church. On the following day forty-eight persons were confirmed at St. Louis Bertrand, Rehoboth. This church is also much too small to accommodate the congregation. It is attended twice a month from St. Joseph's, by Rev. Mr. Pozzo.

At the church of the Holy Trinity, Somerset, there were one hundred and two persons confirmed on last Sunday; in all two hundred and seventy-six confirmed in these four churches. On Monday Mr. James Whelan, a professed religious of the Ord. Preachers, was ordained Subdeacon in H. T. church, the Bishop having been assisted on this occasion by Rev. Messrs. Jarboe, Juncker, Posso and Cubero.

This is, indeed, a favored portion of the diocese. The spirit of piety bought to this happy place by the founders of our holy faith in Ohio, has since been carefully cherished. The female youth of the neighborhood enjoy no ordinary advantages for religious and literary instruction, in St. Mary's Convent and Seminary; and the devotedness of the fathers of the same order to the spiritual welfare of their congregations is evidently blessed with the happiest results. Our brief sojourn in this fervent Society was a remarkable contrast to the strife and anxiety whose dying murmurs reach us from afar. It seemed to like "an island of peace in the ocean of the world."

Rev. Mr. Juncker, who had prepared the German Catholics of these congregations for the reception of the Holy Sacraments, soon left us to return for a short time to Chillicothe, before taking charge of the congregation at Dayton, Rev. Mr. Thienpont having obtained permission to return for a time to Europe. Rev. Mr. Machbeuf also left us at this point to return to Sandusky City previous to his departure for France, where he has also leave to spend some months. We shall anxiously look for the return of these two faithful fellow-laborers to this diocese.

Rev. Mr. Jarboe, Prior of St. Joseph's, conveyed the Bishop to Columbus. The congregation of this city is the worst provided with church accommodations, though otherwise one of the happiest and best attended, in the diocese. There were fifty-two persons confirmed here, and instructions were given in German and English by Rev. Mr. Schonat and Rev. Mr. Jarboe. Rev. Mr. Schonat has already acquired much facility in speaking and understanding the English language, so that the English portion of his flock are as much pleased as the German, with their zealous pastor. He will accompany the Bishop to the congregations of Marietta, Guernsey and Columbiana.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION. -- In St. Martin's chapel, Lynnville, (on the Nat. Road, 35 miles from Columbus, 18 from Zanesville and 7 from Newark,) there were fifteen confirmed on Saturday, June 8th. The last Mass was celebrated by Rev. Mr. Clarkson, and the Bishop and Rev. Mr. Jarboe preached. The Catholics of this vicinity have given much edification by having bought and fitted up this little church so handsomely, for the service of Almighty God.

On Sunday, 9th, there were sixty-seven persons confirmed in the church of St. Thomas Aq., and thirty-seven in the German Catholic church of St. Nicholas, Zanesville. These two churches are very solidly constructed of cut-stone. The former is 132 by 65 ft., the latter 72 by 41 ft. The site of the St. Nicholas church is high and beautiful -- the church of St. Thomas loses much by the lowness of its situation. Neither is yet plastered.

June 29, 1844

EPISCOPAL VISITATION. -- Twenty-two persons were confirmed at St. Ann's church, Taylorsville; twelve at St. Michael's, Deavertown; forty-nine at St. Francis', Sunday Creek and eleven at the church of the Conception of the B. V. M., Chauncey. The churches at these places are finished.

The Right Rev. Bishop and Rev. Mr. Schonat were in Marietta on last Sunday. Discourses were delivered in German and English in the morning and evening, and fifteen persons were confirmed.
